CALENDAR-OCTOBER

October 23-Audubon Screen Tour
Ernest P. Edwards "Land of the Scarlet Macaw".

Mrs. Iva Newman, Garden Editor of the San Mateo Times, who has recently returned from a trip to Mexico, will give the introduction.

Just as we did last year, we are getting interesting people in the Community to do this small but important job. Mrs. Newman is the first woman to be asked, and we are honored that she has arranged her time so she could do this.

There will be a Pot Luck Dinner for Mr. and Mrs. Edwards and Mrs. Newman at the Burlingame Recreation Center from 6 to 7. The Center will be open at 5:30. Our good cooks will have an opportunity to share their special dishes. Miss Carol Boyd (DI4-5901) is in charge. Please call her to tell whether you will bring main dish, salad, or dessert. You can bring guests so long as you bring three portions of food for every one who comes. There will be milk and powdered coffee as beverages. Each one brings his own fork, knife, spoon, plates, cup and saucer and napkins.

FIELD TRIPS

October 27-Sawyer Camp Road. There are migrant birds in here now to be seen; also a few fall flowering shrubs. Bring ten cents along for your copy of J'Ed's 7-page study of the plant life along the road, and five cents for the list of birds seen on field trips last year; which you may use for check lists. Meet at Crystal Springs Dam at 8:30 A.M.

November 17-Los Banos Bird Refuge. Meet at 5:30 A.M. at front gate on El Camino Real of the Sequoia High School in Redwood City. Second meeting place at Tiny's Restaurant in Los Banos for breakfast. Bring a lunch, field-glasses, cameras, and wraps that will take care of the weather. Those who made this trip last year will never forget the snowgeese coming in by the thousands.

There will be no regular meeting of Sequoia Audubon Society in the San Mateo Library in either October or November because the Screen Tours or holidays fall on or near the regular meeting days.

AUDUBON SCREEN TOUR

November 29-Alexander Sprunt Jr. showing his film "Cypress Kingdom", a most interesting film of swamp life.

George Davis, former Superintendent of The San Francisco Water Company, has accepted the invitation to introduce Mr. Sprunt

Before and after the Screen Tour Phyllis Lindley of Pacific Coast National Audubon will display the gifts that may be obtained at the National Audubon Office in Berkeley, or on order. There are fascinating books, pictures, games, and stationery.

Come early to browse.

There will be a dinner beforehand at the Claramar Restaurant in San Mateo. All members are welcome to come to the dinners for our guests. Claramar Restaurant will provide a good dinner for $2.15 which includes tax and tip. Make reservation by card or phone call to Mrs. Wallace Baker, 457 - 26th Ave., San Mateo, FI 5-5335.

COMING EVENTS

December- Trip to Hawaii

This trip for all Auduboners who are interested has been gotten up by Miss Melva Trevor who is working with the Hawaii Audubon Group and a Travel Agency to bring an interesting experience to those who can take advantage of a Christmas vacation in Hawaii. Eight days for $350.00 which includes air tourist and hotel accommodation. Some meals will be included, and all trips. Four days extra may be had for another $120.00 which will take trips to other islands. Brochures are available. Call Mrs. Valentine DI3-3498 or Miss Trevor ORdway 3-6744 until the 20th.

January 19 - The Pacific Coast Conference of Audubon Societies originally scheduled for October 20th has been postponed to January 19th. Officers, Chairmen of Committees, and special representatives will attend helpful and interesting meetings. Officers and Chairmen circle this date in red.

We are moving into the last two weeks of our ticket selling for the Screen Tours. Please be sure to say that the Family Ticket is for Husbands and Wives, as well as for Fathers and Mothers and children. This was not too clear on the folder perhaps. Also, if you know any Youth Groups, the Board of Directors believes that for groups of ten or more, the cost should be thirty cents apiece including the leader.

The Board of Directors believes also that a big effort must be made to have all events begin on time.

Board Meetings are 7:30 P.M. first Tuesday of every month at the home of Mrs. W. C. Harman in San Carlos. Chairmen of Committees and any member interested are always welcome.

Mrs. Florence Cranfill, 187 Denslowe Drive, San Francisco, is our new Corresponding Secretary.
